

NAMDC

Navy Air and Missile Defense Command

Public Affairs Office

Mr. Chris Cleaver (540) 284-4802

cell (717) 926-9543

christopher.cleaver@navy.mil

NAMDC NEWS RELEASE

August 6, 2012

NAVY AIR AND MISSILE DEFENSE COMMAND RECOGNIZES EMPLOYEE OF THE QUARTER

(DAHLGREN, VA) – Navy Air and Missile Defense Command recognized one of its top performers during a recent ceremony here. Lt. Cmdr. Joshua C. Stewart, a deputy plans officer with the command, was recognized for outstanding performance and honored as, “NAMDC Employee of the Quarter.”

“Josh is a tremendous contributor and his efforts with Navy Integrated Fire Control –Counter Air are noted at the highest levels of the Navy,” said Capt. Frank Olmo, chief of staff. NIFC-CA is the premier integrated air missile defense program for the fleet and is vital to countering anti-ship cruise missile threats. Stewart was also recognized for his work with the European Phase Adaptive Approach program. EPAA fields proven weapon systems to protect our allies, friends and U.S. interests in Europe.

Stewart joined the Navy in 2000. He is an Operation Iraqi Freedom veteran and served aboard the USS Anzio (CG68), USS Cowpens (CG63) and USS John S. McCain (DDG 56). Ashore, he served with the Office of Naval Intelligence, Engineering Assessments Atlantic and Navy Air and Missile Defense Command.

A native of Chester, Va., he is married to the former Caroline Smith of Leesburg, Va. They have three children and reside in Fredericksburg.

Photo cutline: Lt. Cmdr Josh Stewart, left, is recognized by Navy Air and Missile Defense Command Chief of Staff Frank Olmo as “NAMDC Employee of the Quarter.” Stewart was recognized for his work with Navy Integrated Fire Control –Counter Air and the European Phase Adaptive Approach program.